

Part B assignment - Sacred stories

Eva Bosevski

"The climate is a common good, belonging to all and meant for all."

I have chosen to make an art piece based on the question "What does peace with creation look like to you?". I chose this because to me, having peace with creation looks like making sure the environment is cared for and on one side my artwork shows a not cared for environment and on the other side it shows an environment that has been beautifully cared for. The quote, "The climate is a common good, belonging to all and meant for all." suits with my artwork because it tells us why we need to contain a clean environment and not an unhealthy one.

An explanation of how caring for creation demonstrates our 2025 St Columba's College theme of Hope.

Caring for creation demonstrates the theme of hope because it shows our belief in a better future for the world and for future generations. When we act with hope, we are more motivated to care for the Earth and protect its resources. This kind of care can make a real difference, especially for young people who will inherit the planet. By taking responsibility for creation today, we express our hope that tomorrow can be brighter, cleaner, and more sustainable for everyone.
