

unman.0 7.1

One environmental strategy we can use to help this school is to have more bins around the yard, and to make sure that people will help and keep the environment clean and healthy. This is a good idea because if we didn't have any bins in the yard or any waste bins, the whole school would end up as a useless dump. And not only just in packing our school, but it can affect other animals outside the school, like sea creatures, and other wild animals too. I know that we do have bins in the yard, but if they're in corners away from people, they're not really noticeable, and they don't stand out, so it would make people not really use them. I think if we put more bins in the yard in noticeable areas, I think we can we can make a change to animals and our environment to be safe and clean.

Hannah O'Shannessey - St Columba's College