

Mikka Randello:

In my artwork I decided to represent how the earth started and is coming to. Earth is our home and look what it's coming to.

The care for our common home is a priority. We need to strengthen, our world is a shared home and everyone needs to care for it, and we all must protect it and look after our creations with love and respect. Our common home is beginning to look more like an immense pile of filth. There are ways to prevent wastage and keep the earth from being more ruined with plastic waste. Have a change with little daily actions. And keep our earth healthy and how its meant to be. The environment is a collective good and should be cared about a lot more.

“We are called to stay tuned to God and to recognize his presence in all of life”