

Tess Barrett

Part B reflection:

Part b:

2 Laudato si quote: "The climate is a common good, belonging to all and meant for all"

This quote is deeply connected to my poetry piece in many ways. My poem answers the question "What does peace with creation look like to you?" and describes how I feel when I am at my most peaceful with creation. This Laudato Si quote states that creation is meant for all, and I truly resonate with this and believe that every human being deserves to be at peace with Mother Nature. The value that every human deserves to live in creation falls under our college theme of hope. If we want to achieve peace and solidarity with creation, by caring for it and cherishing it, humanity needs to come together with the hope for a better future and use that hope to create the change that we need.